Re: Willow Park School – Incoming Sponsor Trust

Dear Parents and Carers,

I write with further information regarding the future of Willow Park School. Since our previous announcement regarding the decision to dissolve the trust, we have been working with the DfE and other potential trusts to establish the next steps for each of our schools. From this point on, we will be communicating with parents on a school-by-school basis, as and when we have information to share.

We do now know that it is the intention that Willow Park School will join Nexus Multi-Academy Trust. We have a positive working relationship with Nexus, which began in September, and they already have a strong understanding of TEAM and its schools. In due course there will be opportunities to hear more about Nexus and the future of the school.

It is still the case that we are at the very start of this process, and whilst uncertain, it will still be several weeks before we have a stronger understanding of all the next steps and the timeframe for the transition of Willow Park School.

In the meantime, if parents wish to raise any questions, please email them to questions@teameducation.org. Obviously, there are still many unknowns, and we will endeavour to answer as many questions as we can. We will collate all questions received and provide a response to all parents.

This remains an uncertain time and there will be many questions within the school and local community. I stress an important point, that the decision regarding future trusts has not yet been decided for all of our schools and we will share information with parents of individual schools as and when those decisions have been made.

Yours faithfully
